

CARPENTIER, FRENCH, DOLE, GETS K. O. IN 6TH FROM BATTLING SIKI

Paris, Sept. 24.—(By the A. P.)—Georges Carpentier, the heavyweight champion of Europe and holder of the title, was defeated today by Battling Siki, the Senegalese fighter, in the sixth round of what was to have been a twenty-round bout.

Carpentier never had a chance after the third round. He was barely able to respond to the bell at the beginning of the sixth. With his legs completely closed and his nose broken, he was unable to put up a guard. In the sixth the negro fighter planted a series of terrific rights to Carpentier's head, and the French fighter crumpled to the floor. One of his legs caught between the legs of the Senegalese who was standing over him.

The crowd, the largest that ever witnessed a boxing contest in France, sensed the end. All was uproar. Many persons jumped into the ring and carried the Senegalese on their shoulders to his corner.

The referee, Harry Bernstein, at first ruled that Siki had been disqualified for "tripping," but the crowd which considered that Carpentier had been beaten squarely by a better man, received the decision with a great chorus of hoots and jeers and even threatened the referee with bodily harm. The three judges of the fight, Victor Breyer, Jean Pajol, Frenchman and Mr. Bernstein, however, after consultation, announced an hour later that they declared the negro the winner. Their verdict was received with terrific cheering from the spectators who had remained in the arena for it, and many of them in an ugly mood, Carpentier had been hoisted by large numbers of the crowd as he was taken from the ring to his dressing room.

The defeat of Carpentier was entirely unexpected. Carpentier was the favorite when the men entered the ring, and the crowd was dumfounded when they saw their idol pummeled all over the ring and subjected to terrific punishment at the hands of the big black.

Carpentier tried every trick of his knowledge to stave off defeat. Twice he was warned for butting during the fifth round. It seemed evident that he was anxious to be disqualified by the referee rather than to suffer the ignominy of a knockout. When his misadventure became apparent, the crowd, which previously had been "pulling" for him, leaved and hooted, and cheered the negro.

When the rings sounded at the beginning of the fight, Siki appeared timid. He covered up in fear of Carpentier's "terrible right." The Senegalese, however, seemed to take courage after his first round, and four rights to the jaw, which failed to make the slightest impression on him. Carpentier's face took on a puzzled look as he butted back took his blows and came back looking somewhat dazed.

So confident was Carpentier of ultimate victory, however, that he was smiling as he went to his corner when the song ended the first round. "I'll get him when I want to," he said to Francois Descamps, his manager and trainer.

The crowd evidently was of the same opinion as Carpentier, for it hooted and cheered when Siki appeared not having landed a solid blow up to that time. "Georges is letting him stay for the moving pictures," was an expression heard from various spectators, and many of them evidently was considering a kind of sacrificial offering to the prowess of Georges Carpentier for the edification of the boxing community.

The French champion appeared thin. His complexion was sallow and his face drawn, but he had stripped off apparently in good condition for the fray, albeit somewhat out of shape. Among the great multitude in the new Buffalo stadium it would not be venturing a guess to say there were comparatively few who believed the Senegalese would return the winner. Georges' weight was announced at 172 1/2 pounds.

Siki stripped a beautiful picture of health and condition. His skin was like ebony as white as the whiteness of that of the Frenchman. Carpentier smiled in his usual debaucher style as the bathrobe of the black man fell from his shoulders.

On the first round Siki rushed out of his corner and met Carpentier before the Frenchman was fairly out of his chair. Carpentier, however, caught the black man with two straight rights. Siki covered up and then went down on one knee from a light.

The referee ordered him up. Carpentier then swung two hard rights to the jaw. Siki took them, merely shaking his head and bowed in. Carpentier's face was a puzzled expression, although plainly he was holding back. Siki did not land a clean blow.

In the second round Carpentier, with a look of disdain in his face, repeatedly jabbed Siki with his left, without return. Then Siki was rushing in, he caught the negro flush on the jaw with a terrific right swing. Carpentier drew back, expecting Siki to stop and wait for him. However, instead rushed in and shot two short hooks to the body. This surprised Carpentier.

Just before the bell Carpentier again caught Siki flush on the chin, but the negro merely grinned at him and said: "You don't hit very hard Mr. Georges." The round was Carpentier's by a wide margin, but he wandered to his corner. Also he had lost his confident smile.

In the third round Siki rushed from his corner toward Carpentier. Carpentier backed away and sparred cautiously. Then he feinted with his left, and obtaining an opening, drove a hard right to Siki's jaw. The negro dropped to one knee and took a count of seven. Then he jumped up and caught Carpentier with left and right swings to the stomach. Carpentier went down and took a count of four.

When the Frenchman arose he was plainly groggy. Siki seeing his advantage showered rights and lefts upon him, always playing for the stomach. He had Carpentier gasping for breath and staggering at the end of the round.

In the fourth round Siki pummeled Carpentier all over the ring. The Frenchman was barely able to stand the punishment. He was bleeding, his right eye was closed, his nose was flattened and his mouth was wide open. Carpentier resorted to all the known tricks of his long experience. He endeavored to hold the arms of the negro under his own armpits. Siki, over-anxious to finish his man missed many blows that would have ended the bout had they landed. Meanwhile Georges occasionally shot wicked rights against his opponent, which, however, failed to slow him up. Up to this time the negro showed no marks of exhaustion.

who was near the ropes gripped them in rising and butted Siki in the stomach. The Frenchman was helpless. Again he was warned by the referee to stop the onslaught of the Senegalese who expected his second. Descamps to throw up the sponge, as the Frenchman was unable to put up his hands.

A short uppercut from Siki sent Carpentier reeling. He fell backwards and then the negro drove hard rights and lefts to the body. Carpentier crumpled to the floor, half way through the ropes, completely out, after one minute and ten seconds of fighting. Siki weighed 174 pounds.

The boxing federation tonight declared Battling Siki the lightweight champion of the world and heavyweight champion of France. It announced that it intended sending a regular challenge for him to meet all comers to the American boxing authorities.

At the end of the bout Siki was remarkably fresh and bore no signs of the encounter.

"You had better cable Mr. Rickard today," an Englishman told Jack Dempsey right away," said the Senegalese to THE ASSOCIATED PRESS correspondent.

This will be enough fighting for today," remarked M. Heller, Siki's manager, as he quickly started his protégé toward his dressing room.

Siki fought a clean and fair battle. He had the crowd with him in the last round, and he was the favorite when he lifted Carpentier from the floor when the Frenchman was virtually helpless in the fifth round. As he placed Carpentier on his feet, the Frenchman thanked the crowd, who were hooting and cheering him.

The reversal of the first decision of the referee in giving the bout to Carpentier on an alleged foul probably saved the boxing game in France from a blackeye, as the crowd apparently was unwilling to countenance a fairly defeated man, completely out and helpless, being declared the winner.

This particularly was true by reason of the fact that there had been two other disqualifications in the preliminary rounds by fighters who profited by the decisions belonging to the "stable" of Francois Descamps. Carpentier's manager, The two men who received the favorable decisions were Francois and Henry, who were both of them lightweights in 1920, when Billy Merchant, of England was declared to have hit him low in the third round, and Charley Ledoux, who was declared the winner over Benny Thorne of England, in the eighth round for lack of fighting spirit on the part of the Englishman.

The main reason had his side of the ring under the protection of the police while the judges were deliberating on the question of who was the winner of the bout. Descamps also was made the object of the anger of the crowd. Many persons attempted to reach him, but he made a quick getaway. The spectators in the popular seats, which sold for seven francs each, and for which many persons had been saving their pennies for many years, were especially bitter in denouncing the referee for his decision in declaring Carpentier the winner. A majority of the crowd, however, seemed to take great joy in seeing one more idol shattered.

Siki's victory over Carpentier, it is believed, will open the way for the Senegalese to make his way to regular training. Up to Friday evening, although working two or three hours a day, he had been in the gymnasium, and had been boxing, rope skipping and bag-punching. He was expected to return every evening of the brightly illuminated arena.

SIKI OFFERED $100,000 FOR BOUT WITH WILLS

New York, Sept. 24.—An offer of $100,000 for a twenty-round bout with Willie, negro heavyweight, was cable tonight to Battling Siki, Senegalese boxer, who defeated Georges Carpentier in the sixth round of a twenty-round bout at the Ebbetts-McKeever exhibition company, operators of Ebbetts field, Brooklyn.

The offer suggested October 12 as a date for the bout, with the idea that Siki is now in good physical condition and could reach this country in a week's time. Should this be advised that the offer holds good for contest next year on May 20, Memorial day.

TAFTVILLE BEGINS EARLY AND BEATS ALL INSURANCE

Two tallies in the first inning were enough to win the game Saturday for the Taftville A. A. over the All-Insurance team of Hartford. Benoit in the first took first when struck by a pitch, and Siki, who was batting third, went to first on a wild pitch. Siki scored on a wild pitch. Siki forced Murphy at second. Martin walked. Pauer stole third and scored when the All-Insurance catcher missed a third strike. Siki was unable to get out one run during the game. Murphy's one hand catch in the ninth prevented a possible All-Insurance victory.

To Bowl for a $20 Purse

Marion and Triland two Taftville bowlers will fight it out for 10 straws this Monday evening at the Taftville bowling club. The match will be decided by pinfall and as both boys are equally matched there is considerable interest in the match.

HORNBY GETS TWO HOMERS AS CARDS WIN FROM GIANTS

New York, Sept. 24.—Although the Giants outthrew the Cardinals here today 11 to 6, the champions were defeated 10 to 6, chiefly through Rogers Hornsby's two home runs and a blow-up by Ryan and Hill, the second inning. Sherdel was tight when the Giants had men on base. Hornsby's two circuit drives were his forty-first and forty-second of the season. The first was inside the park, a towering fly to the fence in left center. Hornsby converted it into a homer by a good sprint between third and home. His other home drive went into the upper right field stand.
